Peperomia graveolens

Peperomia graveolens is a mini shrub, up to 10 inches tall, with glowing wine red stems with extremely succulent leaves that are wine red except on the upper side where there is a v-shaped transparent “window” to enable photosynthesis. The terminal, simple flower raceme looks-like a long thin rat’s tail, to the naked eye it appears to be a powdery lime-green, up to 3 inches tall, growing singularly on long red stems that are up to 10 inches tall. Flowers are yellowish-white with a white margin.

Haworthia coarctata

Haworthia coarctata gets up to 8 inches tall and it grows in large clumps in its natural habitat, with long stems packed with robust succulent leaves. It is normally dark green but sometimes acquires a rich purple-red when in full sunlight. Anytime from late spring to fall, the largest, most mature rosettes produce up to 12 inches long, whip-like flower stems. Tiny greenish-white, tubular flowers occur on the stems high above the foliage.

Gulf States Hort Expo

Here’s a quick snapshot of our booth at the Gulf States Hort Expo in Mobile, AL.

We would like to thank our vendors who provided us with beautiful plants to show. We’d also like to thank our customers that gave us amazing finished plants to show off in our booth.

We had 2 great shows and feel it’s a great start to 2017!!
